European Congress of Virology 2019

28 April–01 May 2019 in Rotterdam, Netherlands

Organized by European Society for Virology. Bringing together scientists from across the Virosphere, ranging from basic to clinical virology, mixing medical, veterinary, wildlife, invertebrate and plant virology.

Abstract submission deadline: 01 January 2019

Scandinavian Virology Conference — ScanVir2019

03–05 June 2019 in Turku, Finland

Organized by University of Turku and Finnish Foundation for Research on Viral Diseases (ViTus) ScanVir2019 conference initiates a triennial series of Scandinavian virology conferences. The “green” virus meeting will bring together young and more experienced virologists and creates great opportunities for fruitful international collaboration. The topics include (almost) all aspects of basic, clinical and applied virology.

Registration and abstract submission: 02 January – 31 March 2019

29th Annual Meeting of the Society for Virology

20–23 March 2019, Düsseldorf, Germany

The annual meeting of the society covers a broad spectrum of topics in basic and clinical virology and attracts young scientists as well as experienced virologists. Keynote lectures by internationally recognized experts in viral immunology, molecular and clinical virology will complement the regular scientific workshops and poster sessions.

Abstract submission deadline: 04 January 2019
